5 2. Maslow outlined five criteria of self-actualizing people. List three of the five criteria and explain why you think they are most important.

12 3. Select one of the following three options and complete the associated tasks. Remember to enumerate (number) your responses on the response page so your marker knows the item to which you are responding.

Option A: The "Big Five" Dimensions of Personality
Contemporary theories regarding personality development now include the "Big Five" Dimensions of Personality. Each dimension is often represented on a scale or continuum and is related to a grouping of traits. Scoring on one end of a given scale or continuum is neither good nor bad, nor is scoring in the middle with a blend of traits from both ends of the continuum. Conduct internet research regarding this theory then answer the following two questions.

1. Provide the URL (web address) of two websites you used to gather your information. (2 marks)

2. Describe each of the Big Five Dimensions, making sure to provide examples of traits from each end of the spectrum or continuum. (10 marks)

Option B: Personality Tests – Extraversion or Introversion
Type the terms "introversion-extraversion personality test" into a search engine. Scan the options available regarding such tests and select one. Read the 3 questions below before completing the test as you will need to record specific information as part of your assignment.

1. Provide the URL (web address) of the test you have selected. (2 marks)

2. Take the test and include either a printed copy or a handwritten/typed record of the result of your test. (4 marks)

3. Describe, with some detail, whether you believe the test does or does not accurately describe this factor of your personality. (6 marks)

Option C: Birth Order Influences

While some social scientists believe birth order is significant in the development of personality, others do not hold such a view. Conduct research into the supposed effects of birth order influences by entering the terms "birth order personality" into a search engine, review a few of the links, then respond to the four questions/tasks below.

1. Provide at least two of the URLs (web addresses) of the internet sources you referenced OR a bibliography of any other sources you used in this question. (2 marks)

2. Provide a list of at least three main traits for two of the four following categories of children. Be sure to clearly indicate which three you have selected from the list below. (6 marks)
