

My Personal Code of Membership in a Collective

1. Leaders above me are there because they have and skills and knowledge that I lack. I will not question their interpretation of the collective's ideals or the actions our leaders take to promote and protect those ideals.
2. I will not "cherry-pick" from the tenets and beliefs of the collective to which I belong. I will embrace all the ideals and goals of the collective equally.
3. Violence, provided its purpose is to advance the superior ideals of the collective, can be a legitimate means of effecting change. If required to, I will engage in violence to support or defend the group.
4. Loyalty to the group and its leaders is paramount. I will stand with my group and support their actions regardless of my personal opinions.
5. I will regard people who do not embrace the ideals of the collective only as potential converts or potential foes. I will not consider or entertain the ideals or misguided beliefs of those who are not part of the collective.
6. I will report to the proper authorities those in the collective whose dedication to it's ideals may be faltering.
7. The only laws worth abiding by are those that are consistent with the ideals and doctrines of the collective. Where laws contravene our core beliefs, I will disregard them and accept the consequences.
8. I will accept that the collective is right and that advancing what is right sometimes rules out being fair or being kind. I will not allow my compassion to undermine my resolve to carry out the goals of the collective.
9. I will always endeavor to introduce ideals and beliefs of the collective to others and to bring in new members. If, however, individuals are ultimately unwilling to join the collective, I will consider them as enemies to the cause and will not associate with them in any way.
10. I will accept that, as an individual I am powerless and it is only through the efforts of the collective that I can achieve.
